We have had some wonderful images taken by divers and ecologists from all around the world. Some of the images are shared through our facebook. We had visited near-by islands around Sir Bani Yas Island and found plenty of birds habiting/nesting on these islands like Umm Al

Kirkum. Plenty of Socotra comarants, Saunder's terns, Sanderlings, sand plovers and turnstones.

Divers were lucky enough to see underwater a plethora of marine life even during the hot summers where water temperatures rise to 36Celcius. Currently water temperatures are cooling down to 33Celcius (mid October).

Enjoy some of the images taken recently by Keith Wilson (ecologist) on our facebook link
